the Unstoppable
SINGER

Hi. I'm Danielle.

As a professional singer with two decades of experience under my belt...

I know how tough the music industry can be. From balancing a busy performing schedule against the demands of new motherhood to pivoting on a dime when the live event industry ground to a halt in 2020 (plus a thousand challenges in between), I kept pursuing my passion for singing, no matter what stood in my way.

From Ed McMahon's iconic Star Search stage to Nashville's legendary music scene to my current hometown just outside of sunny San Diego, I've covered a lot of ground in my career. I've sung alongside household names, been a solo performer, a studio artist, and the lead singer of a booked-out show band.

By fully utilizing my talent, drive, and adaptability, I crafted a rewarding and resilient career for myself that provides a wonderful life for my family.

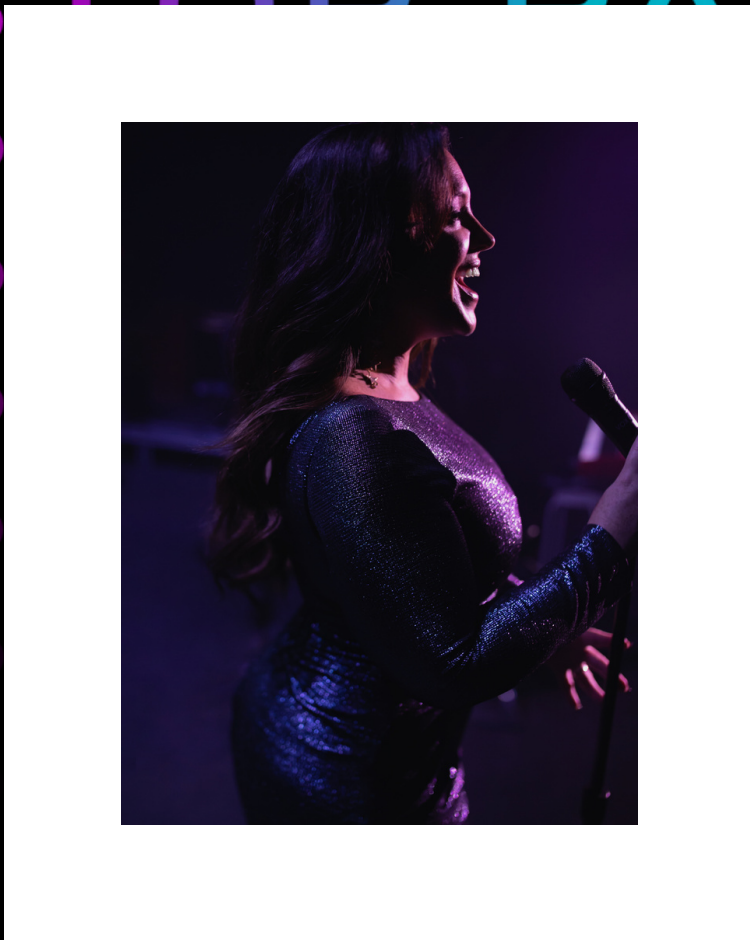

And you can, too.

In 2015, I decided to use my hard-won experience to help other aspiring vocalists navigate their music industry journeys.

My goal is to help talented vocalists craft thriving, long-term careers doing what makes them feel most alive.
